Link Talk

Welcome to the September 'harvest' edition of The Link. I'm sure we have all noticed the combines working late into the night on the rare dry August day we have been granted; this edition is full of events held in appreciation of the work of all our local farmers.

As I was completing the events diary for September which fills a full page this month, I noticed that barely a day goes by without something to do or somewhere to go, almost always for free and invariably run by volunteers across our villages; we are very lucky to live in such a busy and vibrant community in which people give so generously of their time.

One of these is Tony Partridge who sadly, due to ill health has been forced to stand down from writing our Nature Notes. I am sure you would like to join me in saying thank you to Tony for all he has contributed to The Link over the years, for his enormous wealth of knowledge, careful research and the gentle humour which has brought a smile to our faces. Thank you, Tony!

The Online LINK

Many of you will be aware that The LINK has a website which is where you can download current and archive issues of the magazine - https://www.swlink.org.uk/

I established the website shortly after taking over as editor in 2015 and we now have around 60 subscribers who use the site to download their copy of the magazine – either as an online only subscriber, or in addition to their printed copy.

As I will be leaving The LINK magazine at the end of this year, the site needs to be handed over to a volunteer who can manage the website software (Wix), or use a suitable alternative. Without a volunteer, sadly the site will have to be shut down and we will no longer be able to offer the reduced rate online only subscription.

I have asked for volunteers before and had no response. Thankfully I have been able to replace myself as Editor, Advertising Manager and Subscription Manager so the majority of my previous tasks have been covered by three excellent individuals who have stepped forward.

Please consider this and contact me whilst I am still available to help with the process. The website has been very helpful in showing anyone interested our public profile. It was instrumental in obtaining our £4,000 lottery grant last December. Losing our website due to lack of a volunteer I feel would be a regrettable backward step. Please do help if you can.

ALLEN & SON

FUNERAL DIRECTORS

We are an independent, family-owned and run funeral directing company, serving Moreton-in-Marsh and surrounding areas since 1928.

Diane and James Drury took ownership in June 2022, having previously been employees of the company, and having many years experience in the funeral industry.

Through this, and their own personal losses, they know that suffering a bereavement can be one of the most distressing and sad times in people's lives. Even though a death may be expected, it can still come as a huge shock and bring great stress and worry. Diane and James want you to know that you are not alone and that they will be there to support you throughout this difficult time.

Diane and James have an excellent relationship with Peter Allen, who is the third generation of the Allen family, who served the local community and surrounding villages for over 90 years. Peter still cares very much about his family business and the local community, so he does still come out of retirement to help, if he is able to, when specially requested by families.

P.S. We hold regular coffee mornings to raise funds for local charities, and all are welcome

Ellen Badger Hospital Update

Many thanks to the several hundred of you who came out on a miserable and rainy August Saturday morning to support the March to Save the Elen Badger.

Most people will now know that there will be no hospital with inpatient beds, nursing or medical staff on the Ellen Badger Hospital site, as things currently stand. Despite this fact the local NHS Foundation Trust (SWFT) in charge of the changed plans for a 'Health and Well-being Centre' (rooms for consultants' visits, clinicians and offices for SWFT) still insist on calling this building a hospital.

The TV and radio doctor, Dr. Sarah Jarvis, pointed out to BBC Midlands Today that the word 'hospital' means a building where inpatient beds and patient care are provided. She added that there is a 'desperate need for these community hospitals' which are not being built or replaced under current policy. This is precisely why the EBH League of Friends and other campaigners are continuing to fight to get a replacement the Ellen Badger Hospital as applied for on original SWFT plans put forward to SDC Planning from 2020.

The campaign is now moving forward to the highest level of complaint available against SWFT and the Coventry and Warwick Integrated Care Board.

Our first feline pet of the month is the magnificent Sukie who lives with Evelyn Wright in Cherington.

This is Sukie who lost her owner in Wales a year ago, I gave her a home as her family are allergic to cats. She's 9 years old and has settled in with me really well. She sits on the arm of my settee and touches me on the arm until I give her a treat, not that I spoil her of course!

AGM and Our Jazz is back in the swing!

The AGM was held in July and David Squires, the Chair of the trustees, reported on the year to 31 March 2023. David noted that it has been a challenging but rewarding year and, on behalf of the trustees, extended a big thank you to all the residents and organisations who have used the hall and its ever-improving facilities. He also recognised that all the trustees are volunteers, giving freely of their time, and that the hall is managed as a charity, not supported by any direct grants. David went on to note the many improvements that have been made during the year including new doors to the ramp area, new lighting in the main hall; and a CCTV system to help with the security of the building. Funding remains an ongoing challenge; hall bookings cover the day-to-day, but extra funds are always required for big maintenance items and facilities improvement. Several initiatives have been successfully progressed, including the Trad Jazz evenings, which have raised £4,600 and one of our trustees working closely with Tesco to help raise funds for the stage lift. David then welcomed newcomers to the team this year and thanked everyone individually for the contributions they have made to help maintain the hall as a valuable asset for the community.

Finally, David noted that there are a number of projects such as the stage mobility lift that he wants to see through and, whilst remaining a trustee he will be stepping down as Chair. All attendees extended a big thank you to David for his dedication in progressing the long list of items for maintenance, improvements, and fund raising, and welcomed Jenny Glover as the incoming Chair.

In other news, our Trad Jazz programme will be kicking off again on Friday 29 September when Ian Bateman presents "It's Trad Dad!". A stunning line up of musicians covering the music of Acker Bilk, Chris Barber, Terry Lightfoot, Kenny Ball, and many more! Tickets are £12.50, available from www.ticketsource.co.uk/townsend-hall, where you can bag your own table and seating, or for general availability seating from Clarke Electrical Services in town.

If you are keen, and why wouldn't you be, more fabulous Trad Jazz events have also been booked for October and November – tickets now also available from the same address above.

SW7 BENEFICE CHURCH NEWS

'Amazing Grace how sweet the sound that saved a wretch like me.

I once was lost but now am found, was blind but now I see.'

These are the opening words of the most well-known hymn in the English language, 'Amazing Grace' by John Newton. One of Newton's biographers estimates that this hymn is sung roughly 10 million times every year. It's a hymn that has had a huge influence on both religious and popular culture. It's even been sung live by no less than a former President of the United States.

John Newton was born in 1725 and from his early life seemed destined for a career as a sailor. He was press ganged into the Royal Navy and after been flogged for desertion ended up working as a slave trader.

In the first verse of Amazing Grace Newton uses a very strong word to describe his early years. He calls himself 'a wretch", and when you look at the details of his life it's easy to see why. Like many sailors he gambled and drank to excess, but he was notorious even amongst his fellow seamen for his foul and abusive language. He couldn't abide any authority and once plotted to kill his captain. He was only restrained because he worried what his childhood sweetheart would think of him. As a slave trader he was involved in a business that degraded and mistreated fellow human beings in the most horrific way possible. He had no faith of his own. He believed God was a myth and mocked those who professed to be Christians.

It was this man, this 'wretch' who God decided to take as his own on 10 March 1748. Caught in a storm off the coast of Donegal, Newton's ship almost sank when it began to take on water through a hole. As the ship filled up Newton cried out to God in desperation. The cargo in the hold shifted and stopped up the hole; the ship drifted to safety. After returning to Liverpool and suffering a severe fever Newton committed his life to Jesus Christ becoming certain that despite his former sin God had indeed forgiven him.

These events marked the beginning of Newton's transformation which would see him give up swearing, drinking and gambling, become a vicar and hymn writer, and even a campaigner for the abolition of slavery alongside William Wilberforce. Looking back on his life in 1773 he wrote the words of the hymn that we now know as 'Amazing Grace.'

So, there's a potted history of 'Amazing Grace' and the man who wrote it; but so what? Why does any of it matter today? The relevance of this hymn lies in the fact that the God who chose John Newton in 1748 is still at work choosing men and women like him today. Most of us will not have the kind of colourful past that Newton had, but all of us like Newton stand in need of God's amazing grace. Each one of us needs God to forgive us for our past and transform our lives in the present. That is exactly what God in his grace offers to each one of us. Forgiveness for all that we've done no matter how bad we think we are. Forgiveness and transformation. Transformation into the people God made us to be. People who love him with all our heart, People who love our neighbours as ourselves. All this God offers as a gift of his grace; we cannot earn it by being religious we cannot pay for it by being moral. God's grace is a free gift and like any gift all we need do is accept it.

John Newton knew God's amazing grace, a grace which brought him forgiveness and transformation. I wonder do you know that grace in your life? Can you say the words of this wonderful hymn for yourself?

FARMING NOTES

It's the August 2 and another cloudy, wet, drab day! A month ago, I wrote about missing most of the rain and now I've got a lot more than I wished for. This morning, moving the combine back to the yard for a service and fuel top up, a nice lady stopped and said how much she liked reading my farming notes to date.

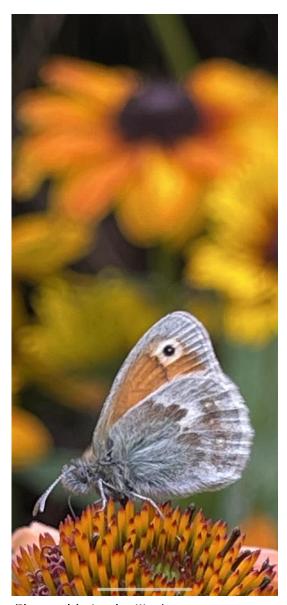

I hope readers of The Link find my efforts of interest. Well, so far, we have managed to harvest the winter barley and oilseed rape. I've written before of different types of cultivation. Most of the barley acreage was ploughed and sown in the normal way. This turned out wildly better than the two fields established by minimum tillage (min till). Both looked great until early spring, but a very wet April saw the min till fields waterlogged at times so the roots didn't do their job and yield has suffered - however saying that - it hasn't been a disaster either. Min till is suited to lighter land.

Moving on to the oilseed rape – for us this is a low input crop, drilling our own seed and direct drilling using our homemade drill, requiring only one application of spray – a fungicide in spring, and a reasonable yield in return of 1.25 tonnes per acre. Dan delivered the rape to the store at Great Tew with our own transport and we got several bonus payments linked to the quality of the crop. Unlike grain, rape has a bonus for oil content above 40%; ours was 44-45%, which attracted a bonus, as well as ones for low moisture and cleanliness of the sample.

Then, last Saturday, we tried 35 acres of spring-sown barley. It was just fit for harvest as we dodged the showers and I had cut over 30 acres by dark. It stayed fine on Sunday morning to finish just before it rained for the rest of the day and much of Monday. I'm pleased to say the rain in June came just in time to fill the grain and is a splendid sample. As the climate becomes more unpredictable and costs rise, spring barley is cheaper to grow - I suspect no winter barley will be drilled this autumn. With the rape though, it's not all about yield, it's already primarily about what it costs to grow it.

The wheat is about just ready, but endless rain has stopped play. The forecast talks of more hope for a drier spell later in August; we and a lot more farmers will be hoping they are right, before the crops spoil.

As for a bit of history, going back to the late 60's and early 70's, we used to grow Maris Otter, a winter barley for the malting trade. As soon as some was cut, I'd be sent with a sample in a lovely calico drawstring bag to Mr George Pratt. He and his wife Peggy lived in the Thatched School House, and he was a true grain broker working for Conway Rees of Stratford on Avon. He would tip the barley out on a white tray, look it over, then take out a beautiful brass instrument from a leather case. The top lifted and there were, I guess, 50-60 holes in the bottom half to put in the required number of grains. With the lid closed again, two handles protruded, which he turned through 90 degrees. This cut the grains in half. The best malting grade barley was white as snow inside when cut and passed the test. Barley that had too high a nitrogen content appeared grey inside, known in the trade as 'steely' and thus only fit to grind up for animal feed. Malting barley would then be taken by him to Rugby corn exchange and sold. He would then take ten shillings a ton for his profit and a pound a ton for transport to Burton on Trent. Any lower-grade malting barley would make malt vinegar or breakfast cereals. George Pratt was great homemade winemaker. avid follower of cricket and organised the Long Compton harvest festival, which took place in the village hall with long trestle tables. All the village farmers funded wine and the food to feed a packed hall, who were entertained by guest speakers. George was master of the speeches and toasts to The Queen, guests, and the successful harvest.

Though long gone, in his day a handshake stood for everything, and no one reneged on that. There was a lot to be said for those times, still I hope you find this information and reflections of interest.

Little Acorns

Nursery and Reception children at Little Acorns finished off the year by completing the topic Big Wide World and enjoying the companion topic Splash! The children have been busy using their Design and Technology skills in Nursery to make fish and other creatures from under the sea, whilst the reception children have got to grips with sewing to create their own felt birds. The children have continued to build on their knowledge of different habitats, have found out lots of interesting facts about different sea creatures, and have considered what they can do to take better care of rivers, seas and oceans.

With Reception joining the rest of the school for sports day at the recreation ground, Nursery children had their own sports day in the Orchard. The children behaved beautifully, listening carefully to the instructions and joining in brilliantly with all their events. It was a great opportunity for them to showcase just a few of the gross motor skills they have developed this year, including throwing, jumping, running and balancing. In their PE lesson at the end of the term, the children had fun completing the Guide Dogs blindfolded 'Fund Race'. Everyone had a go at running a race whilst holding a rope as a guide and it was interesting to hear the reflections of the children afterwards about how it felt to run a race without using their sense of sight.

Busy Brailes Squirrels

The Nursery children at Brailes have been busy creating - making component parts for their entry into the Brailes Scarecrow Competition. Take a peek outside the school over the summer break and please do cast a vote for their exploits.

Squirrels Nursery and Reception children shared their very own end of year song with the school on the penultimate day of term, having shared a recording with parents. Lyrics were penned by Miss Prickett and practised at the close of lunchtime break each day.

Mini Medics

A big thank you to Friends of Brailes School for funding the visit from 'Mini Medics' and enabling the children to have first-hand experience of an ambulance and a story shared with them about ringing 999 in an emergency to get the help needed. Nursery and Reception children were slightly apprehensive on the approach to the vehicle, but the feeling soon changed to one of joy and excitement!

Lisa from Cotswold First Aid led first aid sessions for each class in July. These specially planned and delivered age-progressive Mini Medic sessions are an important aspect of our wider curriculum offer which are delivered at different points over each child's time at Brailes to enable them to retrieve, and further develop important life skills.

As part of the Year 5 and Year 6 session, the children learnt to check for DR ABC (Danger, Response, Airway, Breathing and Circulation) and what to do if someone was not breathing, how to do CPR and use a defibrillator. We now have a school defibrillator, located in the school office, funded by the Department for Education.

Class 3 in Parliament

As part of their learning about democracy, Class 3 at Acorns travelled to London to visit the Houses of Parliament. As well as seeing some of the sights of our capital city, the children visited the House of Commons and the House of Lords. They were met by local MP Nadhim Zahawi, who spent time with the class as they held their own debate. We hope he keeps to his promise of visiting Acorns in the new academic year.

Demeter's Daughter

Badgers class performance of Demeter's Daughter was a brilliant way to end the year with each member of the class playing a key role in the production for our Groundbreaking Greeks topic Innovate and Express stages. The children rose to the challenge wonderfully and brought a fantastic creative energy to each step of the process. As well as learning lines, choregraphing steps, making music and creating props and set, the children also designed posters to advertise the musical and wrote reviews after both performances had taken place. Do enjoy reading Nell's review below for a flavour of the play!

Demeter's Daughter- A Greek Myth: A Play Review by Nell

This modern retelling of an ancient myth sprung to life through the storytelling skills of an exceptionally talented group of young people. Demeter's Daughter had a very limited run of two performances in July, at Brailes C of E Primary School, South Warwickshire.

This production sprung from nothing with skilled members of the cast building Mount Olympus before the audience's waiting eyes. The stage lights shone brightly on the flowing silks that teleported us to Poseidon's wavy seas, where he shot us with a water pistol. The staging cleverly had Hermes zoom in and out on a hoverboard. The captivating dancers led a wonderful display of choreographed steps while other cast members sang the song around them. The Underworld gave the audience an overwhelming sense of dread. In the final scene, the gorgeous flowers went up and down with the Goddess Demeter's movements, creating a magical environment. This amazing theatrical performance began with four dancers: Megan, Nell, Bea and made the audience laugh with joy or cry with despair as she dramatically acted. Iris played Hermes, Messenger to the Gods, who energetically saved the day with astounding determination, zooming in and out whilst the audience watched in anticipation.

Faith, displaying a perfect picture of elegance and beauty. It completely enraptured the audience. Caitlin played a perfectly evil Hades with a sarcastic air wherever she went. Demeter, Goddess of the Harvest, played by Scarlett, was completely unpredictable with her mood changing at any moment. Persephone, played by Evelyn,

This dazzling, gasp-gathering performance of Demeter's Daughter is worth crying, begging and stealing a ticket for! See this magical performance whilst you can!

Camp Outs

Both Year 6 cohorts at Acorns at Brailes were lucky enough to be able to camp out at school. Many thanks to the staff who gave up their time to make memories for our children and we wish them every success at secondary school.

GARDENING NOTES

Editors: Margaret Welsh

and Miranda Arnold

Normally, I'd start by discussing the fact that September is when it starts to get cooler, gustier, and a bit rainier, but given the July and August weather we've had this year, it'll probably be no change. The days will obviously get shorter, and I think we might all pray for one of those September Indian summers. (As I write this, in the middle of August, it's raining again. I've barely worn my sandals this year.)

The rain has had some benefits though, particularly in the vegetable garden. My onions have responded extremely well to the June warmth and then the July rain - they are enormous. And the beans, cucumbers, and courgettes are doing well. The vegetables that need heat and sun to fruit and ripen, like tomatoes and aubergines, are doing much less well. I haven't had any aubergines at all, and the tomatoes are very slow to turn red.

The slugs have loved it, though. Our experiment with wool slug pellets, to reduce our reliance on traditional blue slug pellets, worked very well as a deterrent in the drier months, but were hopeless once it started raining. They turned into a kind of welcoming smooth red carpet for the slugs and snails, and my entire second sowing of lettuce provided a slap-up slug dinner. All gone, no lettuces for us. In theory, we've still got time to sow a few more rows of hardy lettuces, like Marvel of Four Seasons.

As we head towards autumn, it's time to harvest any fruit and vegetables that manage to survive the slugs and the weather. Use them as they become available, and hand out any surplus to your friends and neighbours. (My lodger is now a bit sick of the Mini Star cucumbers I keep forcing him to eat, we've had so many.) Alternatively, you can get busy blanching and freezing (cooked beetroot freeze remarkably well) or pickling. Pickled red cabbage, pickled beetroot, and pickled cucumbers are always a joy in the winter, particularly with hotpot.

If you have a pond or other water feature, it's a good idea to place a net over the top of it before the leaves start falling and clogging it up. If you can't do that, then you need to make sure you fish the leaves out on a regular basis.

There's not a great deal to do really in the flower garden. Keep picking and deadheading. Dahlias and chrysanthemums should really be coming into their own right now and provide marvellous cut flowers for the house. By deadheading roses regularly, you might encourage a final flush of flowering. Obviously if your roses have spectacular hips, you won't want to deadhead them at all.

As the soil is still warm, it's a good time to lift and divide herbaceous perennials, before they die down. And to plant any new perennials, so that they have a chance to bed in properly before the weather turns cold. Your tender perennials will have to move to their winter accommodation before the first frosts arrive. It's a good idea to take cuttings of pelargoniums for next year - a light windowsill will be okay for them if you don't have a greenhouse or conservatory.

Finally, we're entering bulb planting season. If you lifted your container-planted bulbs after flowering, it's time to get them out of storage, check them all over, and replant for next spring. If you're planning to refresh your bulb supply, new varieties hit the market every year, and it's worth looking at a range of bulb nurseries and suppliers to make the most of their innovations. I particularly like choosing interesting colour combinations for my pots and making sure I have some strong-scented narcissi planted by the back door.

Book Club

We enjoyed meeting to talk about 'The Nebuly Coat' by John Meade Falkner. This dark suspense novel was written in 1903 and employs plenty of archaic language and obscure references. The characters are memorable and at times display great humour.

The book concerns a young architect, a large old church in Dorset and the nebuly of the title is a word used in heraldry, which denotes clouds.

Everyone very much enjoyed reading this novel. The author also wrote the better- known 'Moonfleet'.

The next meeting will be on Sunday 17 September at Barton House at 5.30pm. We will be talking about 'Mrs Palfrey at the Clermont' by Elizabeth Taylor.

We will also be choosing books for the coming months, so please come with one or two suggestions of books you have enjoyed reading. If you cannot be with us, your suggestions would also bewelcome by email.

Happy reading! Gillian Cathie

Tabletop Sale

As you will likely know by now, we are soon to begin this year's scarecrow competition. On the morning of the 23 September, by which time we hope to have caused more than a little local interest, we will hold a tabletop sale in the village. Everyone in the village is invited to join in and we're looking for as many sellers as possible. It will be possible to rent a table either to pitch in your garden/driveway or on the church yard green next to the village hall. We will create maps for visitors and have tea and coffee available from the hall. Last year's sale provided a great opportunity to clear out homes and this year we're closer to Christmas to generate a bit more buyer and seller interest.

If you'd like to be part of the sale, please contact Neil on 07818 424288.

Last Spring, we held a successful tabletop sale event in the village. The weather was beautiful and we had visitors from the wider area join us throughout the morning. Many enjoyed the excellent refreshments we sold from the Hall and many more hunted for bargains among vendors dotted around the village.

In the late summer, we also held our first scarecrow competition. The theme was "professions" and once again we got plenty of interest from the parish and beyond, with first prize awarded by a village vote to the Payne family for their painter and easel.

This year, we plan to combine the events in the hope that the interest built throughout the scarecrow display can translate into even more visitors when we have the sale event. We'd like to make this year's events even bigger than last year's and hope we can encourage as many villagers as possible to join one or both of these activities.

Our plan is to begin the scarecrows at the start of September and hold a bigger event on Saturday 23 September. This will be when we hold the tabletop sale and hand out prizes and the coveted trophy for the winning scarecrows.

The theme for this year's Scarecrows will be "Around the World". We've aimed for a broad category that can encompass history; travel, natural history and geography; science; literature, and even film/TV.

Further information about how to join in will be distributed through village letterboxes soon.

CAMEO Lunch Club

Members celebrated two special events at their August meeting: the 90th birthday of founder member Eillen Salmon on August 11 and the Diamond wedding anniversary of the club's leading organisers, Brenda and David Fitch. Sadly, Eileen was taken ill a few weeks earlier and spent her birthday in hospital. The club made last-minute arrangements for a photo, shown below, to be taken of the assembled gathering and for the framed picture to be delivered to Eileen in hospital.

Eileen Salmon

Eileen has lived in Long Compton since 1953 when she took up her first post as a teacher in the village Junior Infants School. In 1957 she transferred to the newly opened Shipston High School as a PE teacher and remained there until 1973 before moving to Penhurst School in Chipping Norton which cared for severely handicapped children. Eileen finally retired in 1990 but is noted for her continuing support of community activities in the Long Compton area. These include her founding membership of CAMEO with a group of Long Compton friends and the delivery of meals to members' homes during the pandemic lockdown. Eileen spent her birthday in Banbury hospital where she was joined at times by her son, Martin, her two grandchildren and other relatives and friends.

Brenda and David Fitch

Brenda and David, who live in Shipston, spent their Diamond wedding anniversary on 10 August on a longboat, their customary holiday home for many years, celebrating in style with a letter from the King and Queen. Since joining CAMEO a few years ago, the duo has taken the Club to their hearts, leading, organizing, cooking, visiting and caring on an inspirational scale. They can be seen in the photograph directly below the CAMEO banner designed by Brenda for Eileen's birthday picture and above CAMEO's new mascot, Bailey, sitting on owner Malcolm Pendery's knees.

CAMEO is indebted to Joe Tame for the photograph, taken in Burmington Village Hall during the meeting on 8 August.

Congratulations to the Team of 23 - you made a magnificent job of it; despite the worst a British summer can throw at us.

Harvest Festival Service: Sunday September 17 10.30am

Our Harvest Festival is an important celebration - especially so in our villages, where we are fortunate to have eight working farms/smallholdings, which connect us to the farming calendar.

The church will, as usual, be decorated for the Service by the Flower Team.

However, it is always special if the children of our villages also bring posies of flowers - these will be placed amongst the other decorations. Likewise, fruit and/or vegetables, or food bank items.

All other food bank donations and gifts of produce will be most welcome. They can be left at the back of the church in the week before the service.

Long Compton Village Hall

It may have been holiday season for you guys, but at the Village Hall have been continuing our programme of maintaining the building and grounds for your use. The outdoor woodwork has been given a coat of preservative, the weeds tackled and the never-ending ivy and brambles tamed....for the time being at least. I'd like to take this opportunity to thank all the helpers both for these tasks and for our regular monthly Social Saturday. It's only about 3 hours but it's pretty full-on and definitely easier with a good team behind you from the bakers to the furniture movers, the sign monitors to the washer uppers - THANK YOU! We are very fortunate to have folks who volunteer to help us with these tasks as their way of giving something back to the community. We really do appreciate your help - you know who you are! Obviously, it would be a complete waste of time if no-one turned up to the events so thanks to those of you who use the hall for whatever reason.

We were delighted to welcome back some regulars to the July and August Social Saturdays who had been poorly but were determined to get back to the warm community (and delicious refreshments) in the hall. It's gratifying to know we're doing something right!

Is anyone else looking forward to an Indian Summer? It seems the warmer weather was only with us briefly this year so we may as well crack on with Autumn activities in the form of our Quiz Night on 30 September. Start to swot up on cocktail ingredients, song lyrics and obscure sporting facts. No, wait....those were in the last quiz. Surely, they won't be in the next one? What definitely IS guaranteed is lots of good-natured competition, a pay bar and stacks of cheese, pickles and biscuits to share. Remember to contact us to reserve your place for the Early Bird price of £10 per head or just turn up on the night if you're a more spontaneous, last minute type of person. All are welcome.

The Annual Craft, Flower and Produce Show took place on Saturday 29 July. There were plenty of entries in the Craft and Flower and Produce categories The photographic categories enjoyed fewer entries which was disappointing. Perhaps the category Photographic Art was misleading? Art is in the eye of the beholder so a picture of your kitchen tiles could be "art"!

Perhaps next year we will have more entries. Although footfall was lower this year than last, those who came enjoyed the display of local ingenuity! And some tea and cake of course!

This year we had a cup for the best in show which was universally voted for by the judges and given to Rachel (Thomasina) Cooper for a beautifully knitted child's cardigan which you can see in the photo.

The Manse – as always when one starts to work on an elderly property, other issues appear! We have decided to upgrade the insulation, put in a new hot water tank and upgraded the shower. Plus, work to the exterior. We are hopeful all works will be completed by the end of September. Please do contact us if you may be interested in renting it.

Long Compton and District Garden Club

In July our group visited Sudeley Castle and Gardens. Ten award winning gardens are featured in the grounds, including well laid out formal gardens. Although the roses were mainly over, there was some imaginative topiary within areas of yew hedging and some colourful flower beds which were abuzz with bees and many species of butterflies. The wide herbaceous borders had a wonderful display of plants including agapanthus, crocosmia, achillia and scabious. There was some beautiful planting around the ruins of a tithe barn and banqueting hall. Tall specimens of Acanthus and Rudbeckia were shown off at their best against the old walls. Lovely shrubs included cotinus and different varieties of hydrangea.

Our visit included something rather different, a safari trail of natural sculptures of a large variety of animals, to draw attention to the importance of co-existence of humans and animals in the natural environment. The animals included lions, camels, pandas, polar bears and antelopes to name but a few. Some were more impressive than others, but I think our favourites were the huge hedgehog and the family of elephants. During the trail we were amused by the juxta position of a sculpture of an owl and the shrill calling of a living peacock in the tree above.

Sudeley is the only private castle in England to have a queen buried within its grounds. Katherine Parr lived and died in the castle and her tomb is in St Mary's church located in the gardens. King Charles I took refuge in the castle during the Civil War and after its "slighting" on Cromwell's orders at the end of the Civil War it was neglected and derelict for nearly 200 years. In 1837 it was rescued by the glove manufacturers, the Dents and Emma Brocklehurst who married into the family did much restoration to the gardens. She was an avid collector and the castle has a display of fine textiles, tapestries and gloves as well as a lock of Katherine Parr's hair and her prayer book. This proved to be a most enjoyable visit with beautiful gardens and a very interesting castle history to discover.

Eythrope garden visit

The Garden Club was greeted by 2 tour guides outside the Eythrope Pavilion once owned by the Earls of Chesterfield. However, when Alice de Rothschild bought the estate in 1875/6 little remained. She designed and rebuilt the pavilion (an example of arts and crafts architecture) and created around it 30 acres of landscaped, formal and kitchen gardens.

Our tour was round the walled 4-acre garden restored by Jacob (4th lord)
Rothschild and his wife Serena in 1988.
Lady Mary Keen redesigned and restored the walled garden in the spirit of the original Victorian garden. This consists of 12 areas, vegetables, soft fruit, cutting beds, glasshouses (including a vinery) with apricots, figs, Muscat grapes and amazing tomatoes. There are also old classic rose beds, late flowering herbaceous borders, an orchard of 35 varieties of apple trees, not forgetting Bertie their pet potbellied pig.

The Cherry House consists of trees in pots grown in the old-fashioned way with a mould of mole loam, water and manure forming a round crust on the pot rim which maintains correct water and feed something critical to good crops.

If that's not of sufficient interest we also saw an auricular theatre, in the 17th century manner, for displaying a large collection of auriculars (Lord Rothschild's favourite flower) followed by a collection of scented pelargoniums and in the autumn, a large display of gourds.

A topiary garden of animals, and finally a Mediterranean garden of succulents, salvias and heliotropes completed our visit.

This took us 90 mins to absorb and then off to a delicious lunch at the Manor restaurant, after which some of us went to see the house whilst others went round the Waddesdon gardens.

A very good value day out with excellent guides and one to be repeated, watch this space and become a Garden club Member !!

Long Compton Walkers

The holiday season, minor health issues and grandparent duties meant both July's and August's walks were less well attended than has become the norm. In July, Stephen Cornford led a 5 mile walk around the Barringtons ending at the pub in Little Barrington. The rain held off until the last few hundred yards.

By contrast Augusts' walk around Church Enstone and the Heythrop estate began in drizzle and ended in increasingly heavy rain. The Falkland Arms in Great Tew provided welcome warmth and an excellent lunch from an unusually varied menu.

Hello from the WASP Collective

We're a new group of Whichford and Ascott locals who hope to help restore a nature rich landscape for our community to experience, nurture and enjoy. Against a background of disastrous decline in nature in the UK, we believe there are, nonetheless, many opportunities to improve or create new habitats in our local area that will help to restore balance to the benefit of all. We have formed a group that is open to all, to provide a focal point for the sharing of ideas and knowledge, and to launch projects in and around our local area.

Our first project is to create a wildflower meadow on Pecketts Piece, the triangle of land that sits midway between our two villages.

Our first general meeting will be held at 7.00pm on Thursday 28 September at the new Kiln Shed at Whichford Pottery where we will hear from David Passingham, Shipston South councillor, and from Professor Rosemarie Collier from Warwick University, who has set up a network of such groups. We hope that anyone interested in what we could achieve together will join us.

VILLAGE NEWS The Wolfords

Editor: Lynn Mathias

Wolfords WI

Gosh, what wet weather we have had! Still, it has not deterred us ladies of the Wolford's WI.

Coffee Club this month was at the Batsford Arboretum. The terrace is a lovely place to sit and discuss the wonders of the world. Supper Club met at Fratelli's in Shipston: the food was very good, service excellent and, as always, the company delightful.

Walking Club managed a spectacular walk around Blockley: the views were amazing, and we were not deterred by a forgotten map (duh!) – thank goodness for mobile apps! As always, we managed to find nice place to stop off for some scones. Blockey's community café is definitely recommended!

There was no meeting in August: instead, we had a members and partners BBQ. Though we had hoped for a sunny and warm evening, it coincided with the occasional torrential downpour. However, we were not to be put off; all congregating in a barn belonging to one of our members with the BBQ outside under a trusty umbrella. As expected, our WI ladies excelled themselves with wonderful salads and desserts. A good time was had by all, and no one went home hungry! Thank you to all who participated and donated.

Up and coming events

Outing - 9 September - Coughton Court.

Monthly Meeting - Wednesday 4 October Creative Butterfly, Needle Felting.

We are a small group and would welcome any new members. We meet on the first Wednesday of every month 7.30pm Little Wolford Village Hall. #### For the takeaways

Due to the success of our previous takeaways, we are hoping to be able to offer a takeaway service between 6pm and 7.15pm

Here's how it works: we need at least 50 orders to make the van's visit viable so now is the time to express an interest by emailing Ann McKenna (see details below) with the number of meals you would like.

Cut-off date for pre-ordering is Saturday 2nd September and to keep the delivery on the night quick and efficient we're asking for payment to be made in advance when we confirm your order. #### Katharine House Aluminium Collection

The Wolfords aluminium collection for Katharine House hospice is going really well and the bin in my drive is being regularly used by a number of residents in the villages. It's making a good contribution to the £1,000 or so that's raised across SW7 each year.

I would like to remind users that the collection is for aluminium cans (almost exclusively for drinks) and (reasonably clean) tin foil. This can all go in the bin that's fairly obvious and placed in the drive of Glasfryn between the crossroads and the Fox and Hounds.

There is no need to separate the foil from the aluminium cans. I occasionally come across items that shouldn't be in there. Food tin cans, bottle screw tops, foil type wine bottle wraps, peanut packs, tablet blister packs and aerosol cans are all not required please. The photograph shows items that didn't make it. They are all recyclable but not into the aluminium collection.

In the meantime, if you don't currently use the bin, please do try and make it part of your regular routine. Many thanks.

"I knew, through my work as a nurse at a local Hospital, of your good reputation and responsiveness before you started caring for my mum. However, it was only when she needed your help that I realised quite how good you are. It's been quite reassuring knowing that mum had been safe at home with your carers. I know that she is also grateful for the stability this has provided. Without your support, my mum wouldn't have been able to stay in her home for so long - and the way you have been able to increase care rapidly when she needed it helped with this." Philip Vial.
